BENEFITS OF JOINING THE IIMS

Founded in 1991, the Institute has developed strongly overseas and now has over 1000 members in 95 countries. It is established as a responsible, professional body, raising survey standards and representing the interests of marine surveyors with national governments and at international level with the International Maritime Organisation. (IMO).

The tangible benefits of membership are:

- Access to in-country & overseas experts to seek solutions to surveying problems (anonymously if desired, under the Institute's name).
- A forum for discussing surveying concerns with fellow members
- Your voice, as a concerned member surveyor, being heard at national, local and international levels
- Advice and assistance in resolving disputes
- Opportunities for study and attending short courses.
- Giving expert evidence in court
- Report writing
- Marine incident investigation
- Members receive 50% discount on all purchases of BS/EN/ISO standards
- Running a surveyor's office (Business management)
- Theory of small craft surveying
- Draft surveying for cargo surveyors
- Recognition by the boating and shipping public of your membership of a professional organization by the use of MIIMS, AssociIIMS and TechMIIMS as post-nominal letters
- Reduced registration costs for seminars and conferences run by the IIMS
- Discounted books on shipping and insurance from Witherby & Co. publishers
- Opportunity to study and pay only for individual modules of the IIMS Diploma courses (Non-members are required to pay for the whole course)
- Receipt of the Institute's quarterly journal, 'The Report' and the Monthly News Bulletin.

The IIMS is MEMBERSHIP driven and members inputs make it grow and thus enables it to meet YOUR needs.
